WORK COMPLETED: Scope of works

Morning Paul, with regards to next Wednesday's visit just thinking it would be worth tying it in with setting up a temporary power to ground floor level and isolating everything else. Recognising strip out will be soon after would make sense to do at the same time - is possible to complete the same day?

Thanks

Check sump pump operation and advise on any problems

The current heating system is controlled remotely and the client wishes to remove these controls and install a standard time clock to have full control of the heating system from the boiler room

We will also assess the sub main SWA cables routing to each of the floors to see if these can be reused for the future installation

Make a plan and list of cables to each area

Installed site temps to the ground floor , 1st Floor ,

Freed up sump pump float switch to then activate and drain water

Looked in to getting full control of heating system traced out interlink from BMS panel to relay in main heating panel to then enable time clock connection. Unfortunately due to a fault with the boiler this could not be fully achieved. Awaiting the heating engineer to locate a manual for the boiler to then further progress these works

Identified various sub main supplies to each floor to provide site temps on a further visit

Disconnected and made safe outgoing circuits though out the building

Note we will leave the below items live

Various black SWA cables to serve each area with site temps
Heating control panel
Lights in the basement
Outgoing heating controls

After accessing the SWA sub main cables these are all old colours and over 40 years old so given the works on the building it would make sense to rewire these to save any future problems given the cost saving.

It would also make sense to wire the sub mains as 3 phase to maintain load balancing throughout the building

Given the change of plan to install site temps and disconnection of circuits to make safe we have just charged time taken and materials
