NOTES

- Right of Abode
Having right of abode means you are allowed to live or work in the UK without any immigration restrictions. If the holder's nationality is shown as British citizen or if there is an observation confirming a 'right of abode' in the UK, then the holder of this passport has right of abode in the UK. If the holder's nationality is shown as a British overseas territories citizen, a British overseas citizen, a British subject, a British national (overseas); or a British protected person then the holder does not have the right of abode in the UK.
- Border Gates
If you are a British citizen, you can use this e-Passport at automated border control gates if you are over 18 years of age. These gates are usually marked with this symbol . If the holder's nationality is shown as a British overseas territories citizen, a British overseas citizen, a British subject, a British national (overseas); or a British protected person then the holder will be unable to use the automated gates.
- Consular Assistance
A British citizen who holds dual citizenship (also known as dual nationality) cannot get diplomatic help from the British government while they are in the other country where they hold citizenship. A person who has dual nationality may be subject to the laws of the other country. It is your responsibility to determine what responsibilities you may have with that other country.
- Holder's Responsibility
It is the responsibility of the passport holder to ensure that the passport is held securely and safely and that any loss, theft or destruction is reported to the local police and to HM Passport Office. If overseas, you should inform the nearest consular office.
- Further information
More detailed information and contact points for HM Passport Office and consular offices can be found at www.gov.uk
The passport remains the property of the Crown at all times and can be cancelled at any time. A person may be subject to criminal prosecution if the passport is subject to any unauthorised use or activity by the holder or any other person.

Security Features Information

Watermark
Holding pages 1 and 2 up to the light will reveal an image of the Gipsy Moth IV.

Hologram
On page 2, a 3D holographic image of a ship's wheel appears on a metallic background.

Perforated number
The passport number is perforated from page 1 throughout the passport. This number has differently shaped holes.

Raised print
When you run your finger across these symbols, you can feel the raised print.

See-through register
When holding page 2 up to the light, the irregular shapes combine to form the image of a sextant.
