Non Protected Rights Policy Statement Details:

This statement shows the unit movements and contributions received from 12/12/2016 to 20/08/2017.

Gross Contributions:

No contributions received in statement period

Fund Values:		As at 12/12/2016		As at 20/08/2017
Fund Name	Brought Forward Holding	Brought Forward Value (£)	Current Holding	Current value (£)	Unit Type
					(See Notes)
JPM European Smaller Companies Fund	129.0260	751.32	124.7874	921.93	(1)

Total value		17409.97		22057.79

Transfer Value:

The transfer value as at 20/08/2017 is £21957.91. This is shown for illustration purposes only. The amount payable would be based on the unit prices and any charges at the time of transfer. If you take your benefits or transfer your pension before your selected retirement date the transfer value may be lower than the fund value due to an early exit charge being applied. This charge will be capped at a maximum of 1% of the total value once you reach the age of 55. If you are approaching that age, you should take this into account, as well as all other relevant factors, before making a decision to take your benefits or transfer your pension.

Understanding Your Statement:

Current value of your policy

The current value column shows the total value of your policy at the date shown. The current value shown for each Fund is for illustration purposes only and is calculated by multiplying the number of units by the present bid price. This value may not be the amount payable for any claim on the policy as the price of units can fall as well as rise.

Starting Your Pension

You can normally start your pension at any time after your 55th Birthday. We will write to you explaining your options as you approach your Selected Retirement Date. If you have not started your pension when you reach your 75th Birthday, we will send you a form to check that you have not exceeded the Lifetime Allowance. If you choose to retire after your 75th Birthday you will need to contact us when you want to take your benefits.

Please Note: If you suffer an illness and are unable to work you may be able to claim your pension earlier than your 55th Birthday.

Lifetime Allowance

Every individual has a fixed level of benefits that they can draw from all their pension schemes without incurring an additional tax charge. This is referred to as the lifetime allowance, which is set by HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC). For tax year 2017/18 the Lifetime Allowance for pension savings is £1.00 million. HMRC will charge tax on the value of any benefits paid in excess of this amount. If the benefit is taken as a lump sum the tax charge will be 55% and if taken as a pension the tax charge will be 25%. Any life assurance death benefit is paid as a lump sum.

The Standard Lifetime Allowance will not apply if you have registered with HMRC to protect your benefits from the Lifetime Allowance Charge. In this case you may be able to receive benefits in excess of the Standard Lifetime Allowance without the application of these tax charges. If you have any questions about this we suggest you seek independent financial advice.

Contributions

You can obtain tax relief on contributions up to the full amount of your UK taxable earnings or £3600 if this is higher.

If your earnings exceed a threshold figure published by the Government or if your retirement benefit choice with us or another provider takes advantage of retirement benefit flexibility introduced by the Government from 6 April 2015, this may restrict the tax relieved amount you can continue to pay into all your pension arrangements. This is known as the Annual Allowance, which you can view current details at www.gov.uk/tax-on-your-private-pension/annual-allowance.

If you plan to continue paying pension contributions you should take advice on the impact of your retirement choice on the tax relief you get on those future contributions.

Please note that if you also pay contributions into a defined benefit pension arrangement, different rules apply for payments to those pensions and you should discuss the impact with your financial adviser or the administrator of the scheme or schemes concerned.

No tax relief is available on contributions paid from your 75th birthday or beyond and so we will not accept any contributions after your 75th Birthday.

Please Note: If you are a member of a salary related pension scheme, your scheme will advise how you calculate your contribution.

You may be able to exceed the £40,000 limit if you have not paid up your full allowance in any of the three preceding years. Please contact us if you are thinking of paying more than your earnings, or more than your allowance in any tax year.

Death Benefits

On death before you start your pension, the minimum death benefit available would be the value of the policy at that time, plus the value of the Additional Death Benefit, if any, shown on the unit statement. If you die aged 75 or more, but before starting your pension, the benefits payable will be subject to income tax at the marginal rate paid by the recipient (or recipients) of the death benefit payment.

Your death benefits will be paid to a beneficiary chosen by us in accordance with the scheme rules, this means they will usually be free from Inheritance Tax. To help us to fully consider your own wishes in the event of your death, please complete the enclosed Expression of Wish Form. If there are no changes to your existing nomination, you do not need to complete and return this form.

Transfer Value

The transfer value is the value available at the statement date if you take your benefits or transfer your policy to another scheme/provider. An early exit charge may apply if you take your benefits or transfer your pension before your selected retirement date. This charge will be capped at a maximum of 1% of the total value once you reach the age of 55. If you are approaching that age, you should take this into account, as well as other relevant factors, before making a decision to take your benefits or transfer your pension.

Unit Types:

- (1) Units purchased in respect of the first year's regular contributions and in respect of the first year of any increase in regular contributions in accordance with your contract.
- (2) Units purchased in respect of additional single contributions and recurrent single contributions or Units purchased in respect of the second and subsequent years' regular contributions in accordance with your contract.

We make every effort to ensure that information we give is correct but we cannot be responsible for the effects of financial decisions based on it. If any of the personal details on the statement are not correct or missing please let us know.

The purpose of this illustration is to show you what your income might be in retirement from this pension. In producing the illustration we have made assumptions about your future contributions, investment growth and other factors based upon current economic conditions. The amount of income shown has been adjusted so that it takes into account the impact of future inflation on the buying power of your income in retirement. There is no guarantee that you will receive these amounts.

When you decide that you want to look into taking your retirement benefits, you will have several options for what you can do with your pension savings. We recommend that you get guidance or advice to help you with this decision and that you shop around to get the highest possible amount of benefit. Pension Wise is a service from the Government that will offer you free and impartial guidance.

We will send you a statement of your pension plan each year which will include a new illustration of what your income might be in retirement so that you can keep track of this.

What your regular income in retirement might be from your plan when you retire:

The table below shows what your pension might be worth when you retire, and the regular income it may provide for you in retirement. The amounts that we show are reduced to illustrate the impact of inflation between now and retirement at the rate 2.50% a year.

The fund value at selected retirement age is estimated to be	15100	24800	40200

a reduced pension of	618 pa	1220 pa	2350 pa

Current fund value:

The current fund value is £22057.79.

The notes attached to this illustration form a part of the illustration and should be read carefully.

Notes:

These figures show what might happen if we achieved a return of -0.49%, 2.44% or 5.37% after we have made allowance for the effect of inflation.

These figures are only examples and are not guaranteed, they are not minimum or maximum amounts. What you will get back depends on how your investments grow and on the tax treatment of the investment.

Your retirement fund could be more or less than this.

Subject to maximum standard growth rate assumptions permitted by the Financial Conduct Authority, firms use a range of growth rates for projections based on their assessment of the potential investment return of different funds.

The highest growth rates will be used for funds that invest mainly in equities as they have a higher potential return in the long run, but also run a greater risk of underperformance. Lowest growth rates will be used for funds that invest mainly in cash as they are low risk but likely to produce lower returns. Intermediate assumed rates will be used for funds with assets between these two levels.

The growth rates shown in this illustration are based on the mix of investments within the fund(s) to which your policy is linked.

All companies use the same rates to show how funds may be converted into pension income.

The charges taken into account vary from company to company.

An early exit charge may apply if you take your pension before your selected retirement date. This charge will be capped at a maximum of 1% of the total value once you reach the age of 55.

This projection takes into account all exit charges which would be applied to the projected retirement date.

Your pension income will depend on how your investment grows and on the interest rates at the time you retire. Your plan may pay back less than you have paid in.

Benefits payable from this scheme are subject to a Lifetime Allowance. This is a single allowance set by HM Revenue & Customs that is the total value of pension savings from all pension schemes and arrangements. This also includes the value of pension plans from which you are receiving an income. At 6 April 2017 the Lifetime Allowance for pension savings is £1,000,000.00. HM Revenue & Customs will charge 55% tax on lump sum payments in excess of the allowance and 25% tax on excess pension payments.

Benefits illustrated in this projection have not been limited to the Lifetime Allowance.

The pensions figures illustrated assume a rate of return of -0.70% in respect of the fund accumulated at -0.49%, and a rate of return of 1.30% in respect of the fund accumulated at 2.44%, and a rate of return of 3.30% in respect of the fund accumulated at 5.37%. The mortality and charging bases used in calculating the annuity rates are those laid down by the Financial Conduct Authority.

These figures assume that no further contributions are paid after 01/07/1997.

This illustration assumes that no further contributions are paid.

The Personal Retirement Account Personal Pension Plan (July 1988 Series - 930)

This leaflet is a brief guide to the Save & Prosper Personal Retirement Account Personal Pension Plan (July 1988 Series).

What is a Personal Retirement Account?

- It is a Personal Pension Plan designed to provide pension benefits at a selected retirement date.

What can I contribute and how do I claim tax relief?

- You and your employer, and also other parties, can make contributions to your policy.
- You may contribute regularly each month or year and/or pay single contributions whenever you are able to.

- Your individual contributions are paid net of basic rate income tax (e.g. for 2006/2007 every £100 you contribute only costs you £78 - this represents income tax relief at the basic rate). If you are a higher rate taxpayer, you need to claim the extra tax relief through your tax office.

- Contributions made by your employer must be paid gross but are allowable as a business expense.

- If you are UK resident, a Crown Servant, or a spouse/civil partner of a Crown Servant you will receive full income tax relief on your personal contributions up to 100% of your 'Relevant UK earnings' or £3,600 if higher. If you do not receive an income you will be eligible for full income tax relief on contributions up to £3,600.

- The term 'Relevant UK earnings' means: -

- employment income,
- income which is chargeable under Schedule D and is immediately derived from the carrying on or exercise of a trade, profession or vocation (whether individually or as a partner acting personally in a partnership), and
- income to which section 529 of Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1988 (ICTA) (patent income of an individual in respect of inventions) applies.

Relevant UK earnings are to be treated as not being chargeable to income tax if, in accordance with arrangements having effect by virtue of section 788 of ICTA (double taxation agreements), they are not taxable in the United Kingdom.

- If you have started a personal pension with us before 6 April 2001 you can choose to make additional contributions to provide for term assurance cover and waiver of contributions until the date you retire. Tax relief, up to the limit described in these notes, will be given on the contributions you make for this cover.

- The Government has introduced an Annual Allowance on contributions to pension savings: -

Tax Year	Annual Allowance
2006/2007	£215,000
2007/2008	£225,000
2008/2009	£235,000
2009/2010	£245,000
2010/2011	£255,000
2011/2012	£50,000
2012/2013	£50,000

- From 6 April 2011 the maximum you and your employer in aggregate can contribute into all your pension arrangements is limited to £50,000 in any year. If you are a member of a salary related pension scheme, your scheme will advise how you calculate your contribution. If you exceed this limit there may be a 40% tax liability on the excess.

- You may be able to exceed the Annual Allowance if you have not paid up to this limit in any of the three preceding years. Please contact us if you are thinking of paying more than £50,000 contributions in a year.

- Both the Annual Allowance and tax relief limit apply to your total pension savings. You should therefore consider any other pension provision you have made.

Can contributions be reduced or stopped?

- You may reduce regular monthly or yearly contributions at any time, but not below the minimum amount that we will accept.
- The total minimum regular contribution is £50 per month or £500 per year.
- You can stop contributions at any time for any reason. The policy will be made "paid up" and you can restart contributions again in the future. Fund and annual management charges will continue to be deducted. If you have made less than one annual contribution or less than 12 monthly contributions the policy will lapse without a value.
- It is normally less expensive to recommence contributions to an existing plan than to start a new pension plan.

What are the charges?

- Bid/Offer Spread - A bid/offer spread of 5.5% applies to each contribution made to a Save & Prosper Pension fund. If you are invested in a JPMorgan fund the bid/offer spread is 4.25% (or lower). This is the difference between the price at which you buy units and the price at which units are sold. (This charge only applies to unit linked funds, i.e. it does not apply to the Guarantee Plus Pension Funds.)

- Fund Charge - Each underlying fund will incur a Fund Charge deducted each year and reflected in the daily/weekly unit price (asset share for Guarantee Plus Pension Funds). Please contact us for the current fund charge applicable to your investment fund choice.

- Annual Management Charge - An annual management charge is deducted each year until the selected retirement age. This is equivalent to 5% of the units purchased with the first years' regular contributions and those from the first year of any increase in regular contributions (subject to a minimum charge). The number of units deemed to have accrued in the first year operates on a reducing basis; i.e. the next charge will be calculated on the units remaining after the deduction of the last charge. This charge does not apply for single contributions.

How are my contributions invested?

- You may choose to invest your contributions in various funds, which invest in a wide range of shares and government stocks, in the UK and abroad, and in commercial property.
- A list of funds is available upon request but we recommend you consult with your financial adviser before making your decision.

- We invest 100% of each regular contribution.
- When regular contributions reach £10,000 or more, from the next account anniversary we will invest future monthly or annual contributions at 1.05%.
- Lump sum contributions will be invested at 1.00%.

Can I change my investment into another fund?

- You can switch between Save & Prosper/J/P Morgan funds and you can have a range of funds for each policy. We require your written instructions to switch funds. The switch value will be calculated on "bid to bid" basis on the dealing day following receipt of your instructions.
- The first switch in each calendar year is free. For each subsequent switch we will apply an administration charge of £15 deducted from the units allocated to your policy. This is a single charge of £15, irrespective of the number of accounts you are switching on a particular day.

My investment is in the Guarantee Plus Pension Fund – how does that fund work?

- The Guarantee Plus Pension Fund (GPPF) is a with profits fund. Each contribution made to the fund secures a guaranteed fund value at the selected retirement date by guaranteeing a growth rate of 5% for the Class I fund and 3.5% for the Class II fund. Switches into GPPF are no longer allowed, but existing GPPF investors may continue to make contributions to it. The Annual Management Charge is similar to the unit-linked contracts, however as the fund is not utilised the charge is calculated as 5% of the asset share accumulated from the first two years' contributions and those from the first two years' contributions of any increase.

When can I take my pension benefits?

- You can take your pension benefits at any time on or after age 55.
- Subject to our agreement you may take your benefits early if you suffer ill health (with satisfactory medical evidence), or if you have one of a particular range of jobs with HM Revenue & Customs approved early retirement ages.
- If you decide to draw or transfer your benefits before the selected retirement age, shown in your policy documentation, you may incur an early retirement/transfer penalty (see next section for details).
- If you choose to leave your pension invested after your 75th birthday, then if you die before you buy an annuity, the fund will suffer a 55% tax charge.

What is the effect of early retirement or transfer?

- If benefits are taken earlier than the selected retirement date, they are likely to be less than otherwise expected as annuity rates are higher as you get older and your fund would have had less time to grow.

- For regular contribution accounts an early retirement/transfer charge will also be applied. This is calculated as 5% of the units accumulated from the first year's regular contributions and those from the first year of any increase in regular contributions, multiplied by the number of years or part years between the actual early retirement/transfer date and the selected retirement date. This is limited to a maximum of 75% of these units.

- For lump sum contribution accounts there are normally no early retirement/transfer charges. However, any single premium or lump sum contributions of £10,000 or more may have received an enhanced unit allocation. The unit allocation may be reduced if benefits are transferred or taken earlier than ten years from when the contribution was made.

What pension benefits does my policy provide?

- The whole policy value can be used to provide a pension. Alternatively you can choose to take up to 25% of the fund, within the Lifetime Allowance, as a tax-free lump sum in exchange for a smaller pension. See the next section for details of the Lifetime Allowance.
- You can choose to either buy your pension from Prudential, our chosen annuity provider, or from another authorised insurance company. You can buy a pension that provides an income for your lifetime only or a pension that continues to be paid to your spouse/civil partner/dependent(s) in the event of your death.
- If your total pension savings at retirement are no more than £18,000 you can exchange your pension rights for a cash lump sum (25% of the fund will be paid tax-free, with the remainder taxed as earned income).

To take this option you must be aged 60 or over and all your pension rights, with us and other providers, must be paid as cash lump sums within a 12-month period.

Are there any limits on the amount of pension benefits I can receive?

- No, but there is a limit on the amount of benefit that can be paid to you without incurring tax penalties. The Government has introduced a single allowance on the total value of pension savings, known as a Lifetime Allowance: -

Tax Year	Lifetime Allowance
2006/2007	£1.5m
2007/2008	£1.6m
2008/2009	£1.65m
2009/2010	£1.75m
2010/2011	£1.8m
2011/2012	£1.8m
2012/2013	£1.5m

- When you retire the value of all the pension arrangements that you are taking at that time, along with those you are already receiving, will be added together and tested against the Lifetime Allowance limit.

- The Lifetime Allowance is the maximum amount you can save in UK tax advantaged pensions. See above table for details.

- If the value of your pension benefits in total exceeds the Lifetime Allowance the excess will be taxed at 25% if taken as pension income (which is then subject to income tax) or taxed at 55% if taken as a lump sum payment.

- The tax payable on excess funds over the Lifetime Allowance may not apply if you have registered with HM Revenue & Customs for Protection of the pension rights you built up by 5 April 2006.

What happens if I die?

Before claiming your pension benefits

- If, prior to your death, you have requested us in writing, we will use the value of the fund to pay an annuity to a spouse/civil partner or other dependant.
- If your total pension savings at the time of your death are no more than £18,000, the pension payable to your spouse, civil partner or dependant can be exchanged for a trivial commutation lump sum. The whole of the lump sum would be taxable as income.
- In all other cases, we will pay a lump sum to your estate equal to the greater of the fund value of the policy on the day we receive written notification of death (or first business day thereafter) or, the total of contributions paid, plus 5% compound interest. (If the account is linked to the Guarantee Plus Pension Fund, we will pay the total of all contributions paid plus 5% compound interest plus any bonus due). Any written instructions you have given before your death will be considered.

If you die before age 75:

- We will inform your legal personal representatives of any lump sum death benefit.
- Your legal personal representatives must test these lump sum death benefits against the Lifetime Allowance.

Protection against the Lifetime Allowance Charge

If the amount of an individual's pension savings exceeds a generous "Lifetime Allowance" set by the UK Government, the amount of those pension savings in excess of the Lifetime Allowance may be subject to a tax charge of up to 55%.

Individuals with pension savings that already exceed, or may at some stage exceed, the Lifetime Allowance have been given opportunities to apply to HM Revenue and Customs for protection against that Lifetime Allowance tax charge.

To qualify for protection against the tax charge, the individual must have applied personally to HM Revenue and Customs and, if successful, will have been issued with a certificate. HM Revenue and Customs' protection certificate will give specific detail of that person's protection against the Lifetime Allowance tax charge and also, if applicable, any entitlement to a protected pension commencement lump sum (tax free lump sum).

The pension provider will need to see HM Revenue and Customs' protection certificate when the individual takes retirement benefits and when some other transactions are made.

Notes:

Protection against the Lifetime Allowance Charge

If the amount of an individual's pension savings exceeds a generous "Lifetime Allowance" set by the UK Government, the amount of those pension savings in excess of the Lifetime Allowance may be subject to a tax charge of up to 55%.

Individuals with pension savings that already exceed, or may at some stage exceed, the Lifetime Allowance have been given opportunities to apply to HM Revenue and Customs for protection against that Lifetime Allowance tax charge.

To qualify for protection against the tax charge, the individual must have applied personally to HM Revenue and Customs and, if successful, will have been issued with a certificate. HM Revenue and Customs' protection certificate will give specific detail of that person's protection against the Lifetime Allowance tax charge and also, if applicable, any entitlement to a protected pension commencement lump sum (tax free lump sum).

The pension provider will need to see HM Revenue and Customs' protection certificate when the individual takes retirement benefits and when some other transactions are made.
