Self Certification regarding your account 6023444 held with Deutsche Bank AG, Singapore Branch

Reminder

We wish to draw your attention to the letter regarding the Self Certification which we sent to you in March 2016. As a leading financial institution, Deutsche Bank aspires to the highest standards of transparency and regulatory compliance. For that reason and in order to ensure compliance with all local and international regulatory requirements such as the forthcoming implementation of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development's (OECD) Common Reporting Standards, Deutsche Bank and its affiliates are required to collect certain information, including tax related information, about all of our clients.

As part of this ongoing initiative, the wealth management division of Deutsche Bank Singapore Branch ("the Bank") is writing to all of its clients and is asking to complete the enclosed Self Certification form ("the Annex" or "Self Certification Form").

As such, we have not yet received the signed Self Certification Form for your account held with us. Therefore, we would like to kindly remind you to return the duly completed Self Certification Form within 30 days of receipt of this letter to your Relationship Manager.

Should you have any questions concerning the tax situation, we recommend that you consult your tax adviser or local tax authority. The Bank is glad to provide you with some administrative support but is not in a position to provide assistance beyond the information contained in the enclosed Annex, as we do not offer tax advice.

We thank you in advance for your understanding and timely cooperation with this matter.

Annex: Self Certification Form for Individuals

INDIVIDUAL SELF-CERTIFICATION FORM

Deutsche Bank AG and its affiliates collect certain information, including tax related information, about all of its clients. This is used to ensure compliance with all local and international regulatory requirements. As part of this ongoing initiative, Deutsche Bank Singapore/ Hong Kong Branch request you to complete this Certification.

If the holder and/or ultimate beneficial owner of an account is tax resident in a different jurisdiction to the country where Deutsche Bank Singapore/ Hong Kong Branch is located, then Deutsche Bank Singapore/ Hong Kong Branch may be legally bound to report the relevant information on this Certification to the appropriate tax authorities going forward.

As the Account Holder (as set out below), you are required to state your residency (or residencies) for tax purposes. For joint or multiple Account Holders, please complete a separate form for each Account Holder.

This form is to be used by an individual Account Holder only. Do not complete this form for any separate entity, trust, nominee or other fiduciary or intermediary-type relationship where the Account is operated on behalf of any third party. Instead you should complete and provide the appropriate Entity Self-Certification Form which can be obtained from your Deutsche Bank Relationship Manager.

If you are an individual Account Holder but hold the account for the benefit of another individual, as agent, custodian, nominee, signatory, investment adviser, intermediary or other similar capacity, please provide:

- This Individual Self Certification Form with your details as Account Holder, duly completed and signed, and
- A separate duly completed Individual Self Certification Form for each individual for whom you hold the account containing that person's details, signed by that individual.

Please complete the sections below as directed and provide any additional information as may be required.

If you have any remaining questions about how to complete this form or about how to determine your tax residency status you should contact your tax adviser or local tax authority. Deutsche Bank is not in a position to provide assistance beyond the information contained within this guide as we do not offer tax advice.
